

Two CATCHES for Three VOICES Set by M^r Willis. also [1700]
A SONG in y^e Play call'd Measure for Measure Set by M^r Henry Purcell.

1st Frank what shall we do for an Hour or two, this S^r Sol in a morning mover damnable Slow, 2^d Yet at Night with a Pox, he's allways in hast, you may Swear his Rodes down hill by his driving so fast
3^d Near mind the old Fool he's still going a Stray, once Drunken Dick Phaeton hit of the way Through Bass
to the Catch

A CATCH for 3 Voices

1st Here Tom here's a Health, here Tom here's a health, here's a health w^{ch} refu --- se if you dare
2^d Fill up his Glas, Fill it up, fill it up, fill up his Glas, fill fill it up, and let him Drink, let him drin - k, drink, drink faire
3^d To the best of our frends, to y^e best, to y^e best, to y^e best of our frends, and y^e least of our care, and y^e least of our care
Through Bass
to the Catch

A SONG in Measure for Measure Set by M^r Henry Purcell.

Fear no danger to insue, our Hero Loves as well as you, ever gentle, ever Smiling and the cares of Lifes be-guileing. 1st straine a. gaine Cupid Strows your paths with Flowers, 1st straine a. gaine

gather'd from the Elizian Bowrs. end with the 1st straine

For the Flute
1st straine a. gaine end with 1st straine

Slaves to London I'll deceive you, for the Country, now I leave you who can drink & not be mad, Wine so dear & yet so bad so much noise &

Air so smoaky, that so stuns you, this so choaks you men so selfish false & rude, Nymphs so young & yet so lewd. if we play we're sure of losing, if we love our Doom we're chasing at y^e play house tedious sport

Can't itth City, Fringes at Court Dirty streets & dirtier Butthys jolting Coach

whores & Cullits, Knaves & Coxcombs evry where who ^{is wise} carry here.

Quiet harmles country pleasures shall at home ingross my leisure. Farewell

London I'll repair to my native country Air, & leave all thy plagues behind me but at home my ~~cloag~~ will find me Oh yes Gods list ten times worse London is the milder Curse.

WILLIS,

M1603

. W

Case

467617

34

au. 713463